Introduction

These Bonus Materials contain four bonus lessons that are intended to be taught as a supplement to the Important People in American History domain. See the Important People in American History Teacher Guide Introduction for an in-depth overview of the Important People in American History domain.

The important person taught in these bonus materials is George Washington.

When to Teach Bonus Materials for Important People in American History

Important People in American History bonus lessons are taught throughout the school year. These bonus lessons were designed to fit within the existing Important People In American History calendar. The following schedule indicates when the bonus lessons should be taught, along with when the other Important People in American History lessons are taught.

Domain Components

The components needed to implement the Bonus Materials for the Important People in American History domain are as follows:

- The Bonus Materials: Important People in American History Teacher Guide outlines each lesson, or day of instruction, and contains all the information needed to teach the Important People in American History Bonus Materials.

- The Bonus Materials: Important People in American History Flip Book contains a collection of images that accompany read-alouds found in the Teacher Guide.

- The Bonus Materials: Important People in American History Image Cards contain additional images that are used during instruction.

- The Bonus Materials: Important People in American History Activity Pages contain various activities for students to complete in class or at home with their family. There should be a copy of each Activity Page for every student in the class.

Domain Icons

The icons below are used throughout the domain to indicate the setting in which the activities are designed to occur.

- “The Legend of George Washington and the Cherry Tree”
- “The Legend of George Washington and Betsy Ross”

Picture Talks

Picture Talks accompany the following read-alouds in the Bonus Materials: Important People in American History:

- “The Legend of George Washington and the Cherry Tree”
- “The Legend of George Washington and Betsy Ross”

Deepening Understanding

In the Bonus Materials: Important People in American History, Deepening Understanding instruction is given for the following words:

- Lessons b1A and b1B: “The Legend of George Washington and the Cherry Tree”
  - orchard
  - sturdy
- Lessons b2A and b2B: “The Legend of George Washington and Betsy Ross”
  - flag
  - president
Core Vocabulary

The following list contains all of the core vocabulary words in the Bonus Materials: Important People in American History in the forms in which they appear in the lessons. Bold-faced words in the list have an associated Deepening Understanding activity.

Lessons b1A and b1B: “The Legend of George Washington and the Cherry Tree”

Extension Activities

The Extension Activities designed to be conducted while teaching the Bonus Materials: Important People in American History domain include:

- Lessons b1A—b1B: Cherry Cobbler Recipe
- Lessons b2A—b2B: Making an American Flag

Take-Home Material

In the Bonus Materials: Important People in American History domain, we recommend that students take home the following:

- Lesson b1A, Activity Page b1A-2: Important People in American History: The Legend of George Washington and the Cherry Tree
- Lesson b1B, Activity Page b1B-1: Tell Me About George Washington
- Lesson b2A, Activity Page b2A-4: Important People in American History: The Legend of George Washington and Betsy Ross
- Lesson b2B, Activity Page b2B-1: Tell Me About the American Flag
Assessments

Because Important People in American History is taught intermittently throughout the year, teachers will reflect on student performance and adjust instruction accordingly, rather than assess individual students. For these bonus lessons, teachers will reflect on student performance and knowledge after Lessons b1B, and b2B and record whether students have 1) demonstrated mastery of all Core Content Objectives, 2) demonstrated understanding of some Core Content Objectives, or 3) have not demonstrated understanding of Core Content Objectives. Teachers should record their observations and reflections on the Domain Assessment Record Form included at the end of this Teacher Guide. For students who do not master the Core Content Objectives of a given lesson during regular instruction, teachers may want to consider conducting a reread or Picture Talk in a small-group or one-on-one setting to help students better understand the material.

Portfolio Collection

In these bonus lessons, students’ work from the following activity may be included in their portfolios:

- Lesson b2A: Making an American Flag

Domain Materials

Below is a list of materials required to teach the bonus lessons for Important People in American History. Use substitutions when necessary, as long as substitutions do not affect the Core Content and Language Arts Objectives for each lesson.

Materials Required

CKLA Materials

- Bonus Materials: Important People in American History Flip Book
- Activity Pages b1A-1—b1A-2, b1B-1, b2A-1—b2A-4, b2B-1
- Image Cards b1A-1—b1-A2, b2A-1
- “What Does the President Do?” Chart from Lesson 4B in Important People in American History domain.
Other Materials

- canned cherries
- granola
- yogurt
- cups
- spoons
- blocks (various sizes)
- scissors
- glue
- quarters
- dollar bill

Recommended Resources for Important People in American History Bonus Materials

Suggested Reading and Resources for Teachers

Note: Before teaching the Bonus Materials for the Important People in American History domain, teachers may wish to review information relevant to the historical figures and events they will be teaching. Young children tend to be very curious and ask many questions, and it is possible that the answers to their questions are not included in the read-aloud texts.

Suggested Trade Books for Teacher’s Reference

Below is a list of books in which the text complexity or length is likely above the comprehension level or attention span of preschool students. Nevertheless, the pictures or themes in these books represent important opportunities for adults to facilitate conversations related to these bonus materials’ content. Teachers may want to read these books themselves, then retell them in their own words using the pictures for visual support.

Take-Home Material

Important People in American History: The Legend of George Washington and the Cherry Tree

Give students the following material to take home to their family:

- Activity Page b1A-2: Important People in American History: The Legend of George Washington and the Cherry Tree

Advance Preparation

Listening & Learning

Practice delivering the read-aloud text while looking at the Flip Book, making notes as to how you plan to make the read-aloud interactive for students. Write your notes in the boxes provided.

Extension Activity

Read over Activity Page b1A-1: Cherry Cobbler Recipe and obtain necessary food items to complete this activity with students.
Where Are We?

- Explain to students that they are going hear a story about a boy who grew up on a farm. Define setting and tell students that the setting of the story is a farm.

  “We are going to hear a story about a little boy whose name was George Washington. George Washington lived on a farm a long time ago. The farm is the setting of our story, or where the story took place. Let’s talk about some things you might see on a farm. What do you think George Washington might have had on his farm?”

- Call on a few students to respond. [farm animals, corn, barn, farmhouse, etc.]

Background Information and Terms

- Explain to students that the story they are going to hear is a legend and define legend.

  “The story we are going to hear today is a legend. A legend is a story that people have told each other for many many years. Nowadays we know this story didn’t really happen, but this story shows us that George Washington was a good person, even as a boy, so we tell it. George Washington, the boy in the story, is a real person who lived long ago, but the story we are going to hear about him is a legend.”

Purpose for listening

- Tell students that Mr. Washington gives George a present in this legend. Tell them to listen to find out what the present is and what George does with it.

  “In this legend, Mr. Washington gives George a special present. Listen to find out what the present is, and what George uses the present to do.”
Long, long ago, long before your mother and father were born, and even before your grandparents were born, a boy named George Washington lived in America. George lived on a farm with his mother and father. There were horses, pigs, and cows on the farm. There were fields planted full of corn and tobacco and an orchard with many fruit trees. George’s father, Mr. Washington, was proud of his fruit trees. He was especially proud of a young cherry tree that he had received as a gift. It was a small tree when he planted it in his orchard, but it was getting bigger and growing well. There is a famous story about George Washington and that cherry tree. It’s a story that people have told for many years, and we still like to tell it today.

Tell students that George Washington and his father, Mr. Washington lived on a farm.

“This is a picture of the farm where the Washington's lived. There were animals like horses, pigs, and cows on the farm. There were also plants, like fruit trees, growing on the farm. The setting of our story is George Washington's farm. That's where the story takes place.”

Ask students about Mr. Washington’s favorite tree.

“What kind of fruit tree was Mr. Washington’s favorite?”

Call on a few students to respond. (cherry tree)
Once upon a time, when George Washington was a boy, his father gave him a brand new axe. He used his axe on logs in the woodpile: chop! chop! chop!, but then he wanted to see whether he could use it to chop down a living tree. George had watched his father and other men chop down trees for lumber and firewood, and he wanted to chop trees, too.

• Ask students about the present Mr. Washington gave George.
  “What was the present was that Mr. Washington gave George? What did George want to use his axe for?”
  • Call on a few students to respond. (axe; chop trees)

So George Washington went into his father’s orchard. He found a sturdy young tree and set to work with his new axe: chop! chop! chop! That new axe cut right through the trunk of the young tree. Crash! The tree fell to the ground.

• Define and act out CHOP.
  “Chop means to cut something up into small pieces. Before you eat an apple, an adult might use a knife to chop it up into small pieces so you can chew it. George used his sharp axe to chop down the tree. Show me how you might chop something.”
  • Have students make chopping motions with their hands and arms.
When Mr. Washington came home, he took a walk outside to see his favorite new cherry tree. He had been thinking about how well it was growing and how sweet and juicy its cherries were going to taste. But when he got to the orchard, he couldn’t believe what he saw. His favorite new cherry tree had been chopped right in half. Mr. Washington felt angry that he would never eat the delicious, sweet cherries from his favorite tree.

Review why George's dad, Mr. Washington, felt angry.

"George’s dad, Mr. Washington, felt angry because he would never eat cherries from his favorite tree."
Mr. Washington found George and asked, “George, do you know what happened to my cherry tree?”

George looked into his father’s angry eyes. He knew he had done something wrong. He felt ashamed and scared, because he knew his father was upset. George took a deep breath and did not look away.

He said, “Father, I cannot tell a lie. I cut down the cherry tree.”

“You did?” asked his father. “I was looking forward to eating cherries from that tree, every summer, for years to come!”

“I am so sorry,” said young George Washington. Mr. Washington had a stern look on his face.

“I am very sorry, too, George,” he said. Then his voice turned a bit kinder. “But it is good that you have told me the truth. I would rather lose a cherry tree than have you tell a lie.”

• Summarize this part of the story for the students.

  “When Mr. Washington asked George what happened, George did not tell a lie. George admitted that he had chopped down the cherry tree. Even though his father was angry, George still told the truth. He told his father what really happened.”

• Ask students if Mr. Washington was still angry at the end of the story.

  “Was Mr. Washington still angry after George told him the truth?”

• Call on a few students to respond. (No, he was glad that his son had told the truth.)
The moral of this legend about young George Washington is that it is better to be brave and tell the truth, no matter what the consequences, than to lie.

- Define moral.
  “This legend teaches a little lesson, or a moral. Let me read that part again.”
- Reread the moral of the story.
- Remind students that George Washington told the truth.
  “In our story, George Washington was brave and told the truth. He admitted that he chopped down the cherry tree, and his father was proud that he did not lie. This story shows us how important it is to tell the truth when someone asks you a question.”

SHOW FLIP BOOK PAGE b2A-1: George Washington portrait

- Tell students that George Washington grew up to be a very famous man.
  “George Washington grew up to be a very famous man. He grew up to be the first president of our country, the United States. George Washington was chosen to be president because people knew him as an honest person who was very brave, just like in this story. We are going to learn more about something George Washington did when he was the first president in a couple of days.”
Deepening Understanding: Orchard

Defining Orchard

- Re-read the part of the read-aloud text that contains the word orchard.

  “Remember, in our read-aloud, we heard the words orchard. Listen for the word orchard while I read part of the read-aloud you heard before.”

SHOW FLIP BOOK PAGE b1A-1: Farm scene

Long, long ago, a boy named George Washington lived in America. George lived on a farm with his mother and father. There were horses, pigs, and cows on the farm. There were fields planted full of corn and tobacco and an orchard with many fruit trees.

- Define the word orchard.

  “An orchard is a place where lots of fruit or nut trees are grown.”

- Have students say the word with you.

  “Say the word with me—orchard.”

Reviewing Orchard

- Give some examples of things that are grown in orchards.

  “Fruit trees grow in orchards. Cherry trees are a type of fruit tree that grows in an orchard. Cherries grow on the branches of the trees in the orchard.”

- Show students Image Card b1A-1: Cherries and b1A-2: Cherry orchard.

  “This is a picture of cherries growing in an orchard. There are lots of ripe cherries growing on the branches of this tree. People like to pick the cherries because they are delicious to eat.”

Expanding Orchard: Take a trip

- Tell students that you are going to pretend to take a trip to an orchard. Act out the story as you read it. You may wish to have students get up and walk around the room.
“Now, we are going to pretend to take a trip to an orchard and pick some cherries. Everybody put on your sturdy walking shoes. Tie the laces. We need some bug spray and sun screen to protect our skin. Rub in your bug spray and sunscreen. We need to wear a hat to keep us cool. Put on your hat to keep you cool. Now, get your basket so you have somewhere to put your cherries. Here we go into the orchard. We’re walking through the grass. We’re passing lots of trees. I smell the delicious cherries. I see bees and insects flying around. Now I see a tree with lots of cherries. Let’s walk over to it. We need to reach way up high and pick the cherries. Grab the stem and pull until the fruit comes off. Everybody pick cherries and put them in your basket. They look delicious. Let’s taste one. They taste so sweet and juicy. Did you know that cherries have seeds inside them? You can’t eat the seeds, so spit them out. Has everybody got enough cherries in their basket? I think we’re done picking cherries. Let’s leave the orchard, take off our hats, and sit back down. What a fun trip to the orchard!”

Extension Activity

Cherry Cobbler Recipe.

Students will have the opportunity to follow a recipe and make their own cherry cobbler.

Note: When offering food to students to taste, be sure to follow whatever procedures your school has in place for mealtimes and snack times (e.g., students wash hands, you wear gloves, students brush teeth, etc.). Remember that some students may be allergic to certain foods.

- Tell students that they are going to follow a recipe, which is a set of directions that tells you how to cook something.
- Give each student Activity Page b1A-1: Cherry Cobbler Recipe.
- Using Activity Page b1A-1: Cherry Cobbler Recipe as visual support, point to each step as you read the recipe for cherry cobbler to the students. Have them point to each picture and follow along with you.
- Help students make cherry cobbler and prompt them to look at the pictures and follow the recipe as you go.
- As you enjoy your snack, ask children to retell the story of George Washington and the cherry tree, reminding them that the story is not really true, but people like to tell it to remind them of how George Washington always told the truth.
Lesson Objectives

Core Content Objectives

Students will:

✓ Retell two main events from “The Legend of George Washington and the Cherry Tree”

✓ State that, in “The Legend of George Washington and the Cherry Tree,” George Washington told his father the truth

Language Arts Objectives

Students will:

✓ Actively engage in group reading activities with purpose and understanding (RL.P.10)

✓ With prompting and support, ask and answer who, what, where, when, and why questions about “The Legend of George Washington and the Cherry Tree” (RL.P.1, RL.P.3, SL.P.3, SL.P.2)

✓ Describe an illustration or text in “The Legend of George Washington and the Cherry Tree” and make connections to self and the world around them (RL.P.7, RL.P.11)

✓ With prompting and support, “read”/tell a story using a wordless picture book (RL.P.2)

✓ With prompting and support, “retell”, dramatize or illustrate a story that has been read aloud, including characters, setting (time, place), the plot (central idea) of the story, the sequence of events, and an ending (RL.P.3, W.P.11)

✓ Predict events in a story, i.e., what will happen next (RL.P.10)

✓ Provide a story ending consistent with other given story events (RL.P.10)

✓ With prompting and support, ask and answer questions about unfamiliar core vocabulary in “The Legend of George Washington and the Cherry Tree” (RL.P.4)
With prompting and support, use the word sturdy acquired through conversations, reading and being read to, and responding to “The Legend of George Washington and the Cherry Tree” (L.P.6)

Classify by other conceptual categories: sturdy, sturdier, sturdiest (L.P.5a)

Understand and use increasingly varied and complex vocabulary (RL.P.4)

With prompting and support, follow a simple illustrated recipe to create a cherry cobbler (RI.P.10)

Take-Home Material

Tell Me About George Washington

Give students the following material to take home to their family:

- Activity Page b1B-1: Tell Me About George Washington
The Legend of George Washington and the Cherry Tree

The Picture Talk is an opportunity for students to remember and practice using the language and vocabulary they heard during the previous read-aloud. As you show the Flip Book pages and read the prompts below, encourage students to talk about the pictures and share information. Remember the following Language Support Techniques (see General Overview) as you support students in participating in the Picture Talk: Comments, Self-Talk, Labels and Object Descriptions, Open Questions, Parallel Talk, Expansion, and Expansion Plus.

SHOW FLIP BOOK PAGE b1A-1: Farm scene

- Tell students that you want them to help you “The Legend of George Washington and the Cherry Tree.”

“We read a story about George Washington and a cherry tree. I am going to show you the pictures from the story and I want you to help me tell that story again. On this page, we met the two characters from our story. Who were the two characters in our story?”

- Call on a few students to respond. (George Washington, Mr. Washington)

- Tell students that this picture shows the setting of the story.

“This picture also shows the setting of our story, or where the story takes place. Who remembers where the story took place? Where did George Washington live?”

- Call on a few students to respond. (on a farm, in an orchard)

- Remind students that Mr. Washington gave George a present.

“What is Mr. Washington doing in this picture? What is the present he is giving young George? What do you use an axe for?”

- Call on a few students to respond. (giving George a present; an axe; chopping wood)
• Ask students what George did with his axe.

“What is George doing in this picture? What special tree is he chopping down?”

• Call on a few students to respond. (chopping down a tree; Mr. Washington’s favorite cherry tree)

• Remind students what chop means.

“Chop means to cut something up into small pieces. George used his sharp axe to chop up the tree. Show me how you might chop down a tree.”

• Ask students to predict how Mr. Washington will feel.

“How do you think Mr. Washington will feel about his favorite tree being chopped down?”

• Call on a few students to respond. (angry)

• Ask students what Mr. Washington found when he went to the orchard.

“What did Mr. Washington find when he went into his orchard? How did he feel when he saw that his favorite tree had been chopped down?”

• Call on a few students to respond. (that his tree had been chopped down; angry)

• Ask students to retell the dialogue between Mr. Washington and George.

“What did Mr. Washington ask George?”

• Call on a few students to respond. (did you chop down my cherry tree)

• Ask students what George told Mr. Washington.

• Call on a few students to respond. (I cannot tell a lie, I chopped down the tree)

“What did George tell Mr. Washington?”
• Reread the moral of the story.

The moral of this story about young George Washington is that it is better to be brave and tell the truth, no matter what the consequences, than to lie.

Deepening Understanding 10 minutes

Defining Sturdy

• Re-read the part of the read-aloud text that contains the word sturdy.

“Remember, in our read-aloud, we heard the word sturdy. Listen for the word sturdy while I read part of the read-aloud you heard before.”

SHOW FLIP BOOK PAGE b1A-3: Young George chops down tree

George Washington went into his father’s orchard. He found a sturdy young tree and set to work with his new axe: chop! chop! chop! chop!

• Define the word sturdy.

“Sturdy means strong or hard to knock over. Things that are sturdy do not fall down easily. If you want to climb on something, it is good to check to make sure that it is sturdy first. Otherwise, it might break or fall over when you stand on it.”

• Have students say the word with you.

“Say the word with me—sturdy.”

Reviewing Sturdy

• Show students a sturdy block tower and a block tower that is not sturdy.

“First, I am going to build a really sturdy tower out of blocks. This tower is very sturdy. It has a strong base. It is hard to knock over. Now, I am going to build a block tower that is not sturdy. It is not strong. It will fall down easily.”

• Build a few more towers and ask students to say whether or not they are sturdy.
Expanding Sturdy: sturdier, sturdiest

- Continue building block towers, introducing the comparative sturdier.

  "Now I am going to build two towers and I want you to tell me which one is sturdier. Is this one sturdier or is this one sturdier? This one is sturdy, but this one is sturdier."

- Build a few more towers and ask students which one is sturdier.

- Now build three towers, introducing the superlative sturdiest.

  "Now I am going to build three towers and I want you to tell me which one is sturdy, which one is sturdier, and which one is the sturdiest."

- Build a few more towers and ask students to compare them using the words sturdy, sturdier, and sturdiest.

Complete remainder of lesson later in the day
Extension Activity

Cherry Cobbler Recipe

Continue this activity in Small Groups. See Lesson b1A: Cherry Cobbler Recipe for detailed instructions on this Extension Activity.
Lesson Objectives

Core Content Objectives

Students will:

✓ Identify George Washington as the first president of the United States
✓ Identify Betsy Ross as the person in the legend about the first flag for the United States

Language Arts Objectives

Students will:

✓ With prompting and support, actively engage in group reading activities with purpose and understanding (RI.P.10)
✓ Find the illustration, or object within the illustration, of a book that is being described (RI.P.7)
✓ Describe an illustration and how it relates to the text (RI.P.7)
✓ With prompting and support, ask and answer who, what, where, when, and why questions about “The Legend of George Washington and Betsy Ross” (RI.P.1, SL.P. 2, SL.P.3)
✓ With prompting and support, retell important facts and information from “The Legend of George Washington and Betsy Ross” (RI.P.2)
✓ With prompting and support, use the word flag acquired through conversations, reading and being read to, and responding to “The Legend of George Washington and Betsy Ross” (L.P.6)
✓ With prompting and support, ask and answer questions about the word flag in reading and discussing “The Legend of George Washington and Betsy Ross” (RI.P.4)
✓ With prompting and support, follow illustrated directions to do a simple craft (RI.P.10)
✓ Perform activities requiring small muscle control (L.P.1a)

Take-Home Material

Important People in American History: The Legend of George Washington and Betsy Ross

Give students the following material to take home to their family:

- Activity Page b2A-4: Important People in American History: The Legend of George Washington and Betsy Ross

Advance Preparation

Extension Activity

Following the directions on Activity Page b2A-1: Making an American Flag, make an example American Flag to show students before they begin their own project.
What Have We Already Learned?

SHOW FLIP BOOK PAGE b1A-3: Young George chops down tree

- Ask students if they remember the name of the boy in this picture.

  “Who remembers the name of the boy in this picture? He’s the boy who lived long, long ago and got an axe for his birthday. He used the axe to chop down his father’s favorite cherry tree. What was his name?”

- Call on a few students to respond. (George Washington)

- Tell students that George Washington grew up to be a very famous person—an American president. Ask students about the other American president they have learned about.

  “George Washington grew up to be a very famous person. He grew up to be the first president of our country, the United States of America. He was president a long, long time ago. We have also learned about another American president. Does anyone remember the name of another American president we have learned about?”

- Call on a few students to respond. (Barack Obama)

- If students do not remember, show Barack Obama’s picture on the cover of the Flip Book to remind them.

Purpose for listening

- Tell students to listen to a legend about George Washington when he was president and remind them of what a legend is. Tell students to listen to find out the name of the person who helps George Washington do something important in the legend.

  “Today we are going to read another legend about George Washington. This legend takes place when George Washington was president. Remember, a legend is a story people have been telling each other for a long time. Some legends are made up stories. Listen to find out the name of the person who helps George Washington do something important in this legend.”
Long, long ago, long before your mother and father were born, and even before your grandparents were born, a boy named George Washington lived in America. When he grew up, everyone thought he was such a good and honest person that they asked him to be the first president of the United States of America.

“...This is a painting of George Washington. It’s not a photograph because there weren’t any cameras a long, long time ago when George Washington was alive. We can tell George Washington lived a long, long time ago because he doesn’t look like people who are alive today. He is wearing different clothes. He’s not wearing jeans and a t-shirt, or even a suit. He is wearing a white, lacy collar and a black coat and vest. His clothes have buttons instead of zippers or Velcro. His hair style is different than people wear today. He looks like he lived a long, long time ago.”
As the first president, George Washington had a lot of work to do. He knew that all the people living in the United States needed rules that everyone would follow, but he didn’t want to make up the rules all by himself. He talked and listened to many other people. He helped make rules that everyone agreed on.

All of the people George Washington talked to were very proud of their country, the United States of America. They wanted a way to show just how they felt about the United States. George Washington had an idea. “We need a flag for our new country,” he said. “We need someone who can sew a flag for the United States. I know just the person who can help.”

“George Washington and the people in the United States were so proud of the United States that he thought we needed a flag to show how proud everyone was of their country.”

“A flag is a colorful piece of cloth that flies from a flag pole. George Washington knew who could help him make a flag for the United States.”
George Washington was thinking of Betsy Ross. Betsy Ross had learned how to use a needle and thread in school, and she was very good at sewing. She was so good at sewing that she opened her own shop so people could come and ask her to sew things for them.

- Define sewing.

  “When you sew something, you use a needle [POINT TO NEEDLE] and thread [POINT TO SPOOLS] to attach two pieces of cloth together. Your clothes are made out of pieces of cloth that are sewn together using a needle and thread. Betsy Ross knew how to sew really well.”
One day, George Washington went to visit Betsy Ross at her shop. He told her why he had come to visit.

“We need a flag for the United States of America,” he said. Her eyes lit up.

“I have never sewn a flag before,” she said, “but I have some ideas about what it should look like. Let’s use bright colors,” she said. “How about red, white, and blue?”

George Washington said that he liked that idea. He promised to come back the next week to see the flag that Betsy Ross had made.

• Explain what “her eyes lit up” means.

“We just heard that Betsy’s eyes lit up. That doesn’t mean that someone lit her eyes with a match or that they turned on like a light bulb. That just means that her eyes sparkled because she was excited.”

• Explain the illustration to the students.

“Here is Betsy Ross’s sewing shop. [POINT TO BUILDING] and here is Betsy Ross inside her shop. [POINT TO BETSY ROSS] George Washington [POINT TO GEORGE WASHINGTON] came to visit to ask Betsy Ross to make a flag for the United States. Betsy thought about sewing red, white, and blue cloth together to make the flag.”
When George Washington came back, Betsy Ross explained to them how she had made the flag.

“I cut stars with five points out of white cloth,” she said. “I sewed them onto a piece of blue cloth, so they would look like stars in the sky.”

Everyone thought that looked good.

“For the rest of the flag,” said Betsy Ross, “I sewed long pieces of red and white cloth together to make stripes.”

“Stars and stripes!” said George Washington. “What a good idea, Betsy. A flag like that will look good waving in the wind. It will show how proud we are of our country.” And that is how Betsy Ross made the first flag for the United States of America.
When the flag was finished, George Washington continued his hard work as first president of the United States. He worked for eight long years, helping everyone in our country make rules that they could all follow. He did such a good job as the first president of our country that he is still famous today.

Ask students when George Washington lived.

“Look at this painting. Look what George Washington is wearing and how his hair looks. Did George Washington live a long, long time ago, or is he someone who is living today? How can you tell?”

Call on a few students to respond. (a long time ago)

Deepening Understanding: Flag

Defining Flag

- Re-read the part of the read-aloud text that contains the word flag.

  “Remember, in our read-aloud, we heard the word flag. Listen for the word flag while I read part of the read-aloud you heard before.”

SHOW FLIP BOOK PAGE b2A-6: First flag

“Stars and stripes!” said George Washington. “What a good idea, Betsy. A flag like that will look good waving in the wind. It will show how proud we are of our country.” And that is how Betsy Ross made the first flag for the United States of America.

- Define the word flag.

  “A flag is a colorful piece of fabric that flies from a flag pole. Flags wave and flap in the wind.”
• Have students say the word with you.

“Say this word with me—flag.”

Reviewing Flag

• Describe the first flag

“This is the flag that Betsy Ross made. It is made out of red, white, and blue cloth. It has white stars on a blue background. It has red and white stripes. It is on a flag pole flying in the sky.”

Expanding flag: Our Flag Today

• Tell students that our flag today looks a lot like the flag Betsy Ross made a long, long time ago.

• Show Image Card b2A-1: American Flag

“Our flag today looks a lot like the flag Betsy Ross made. It is still red, white, and blue. It has stars and stripes. It is a little bit different because there are more stars that are in rows instead of in a circle like Betsy Ross’s flag. But, mostly it looks the same. Have you ever seen an American flag? Where did you see it?”

Teaching Tip

You might choose to lead students in singing a patriotic song (e.g., Yankee Doodle; America, The Beautiful, etc.) or saying the Pledge of Allegiance while students place their hands over their hearts. If possible, take students outside or to the window to see the school flag flying on the flag pole, or show them the flag in your classroom.

Complete remainder of lesson later in the day
Extension Activity 15 minutes

Making an American Flag

Note: You might have all students participate in the Extension Activity on the day you teach Lesson b2A OR the day you teach Lesson b2B. Alternatively, you might have half of the students participate in the activity each day.

Students will have the opportunity to follow directions and make the American flag.

- Give students Activity Page b2A-1, b2A-2, and b2A-3: The American Flag.
- Show students the example American flag you made (see Advance Preparation).
- Tell students that they are going to follow the directions to make their own American flags.
- Using the Activity Page as visual support, point to each step in the directions as you read them to students. Have students point to each picture and follow along with you.
- Help students make their American flags, prompting them to look at the pictures and follow the directions as you go.
- When students complete their projects, show them Flip Book Page b2A-6: First flag and ask them whether the flag they made is the flag we use today, or the flag Betsy Ross made. Discuss the differences between the two flags, pointing out the different number and arrangement of the stars.
The Legend of George Washington and Betsy Ross

Lesson Objectives

Core Content Objectives

Students will:

- Identify George Washington as the first president of the United States
- Identify Betsy Ross as the person in the legend about the first flag of the United States
- Identify George Washington as the face on the quarter and/or dollar bill

Language Arts Objectives

Students will:

- With prompting and support, actively engage in group reading activities with purpose and understanding (RI.P.10)
- Find the illustration, or object within the illustration, of a book that is being described (RI.P.7)
- Describe an illustration and how it relates to the text (RI.P.7)
- With prompting and support, ask and answer who, what, where, when, and why questions about “The Legend of George Washington and Betsy Ross” (RI.P.1, SL.P.2, SL.P.3)
- With prompting and support, retell important facts and information from “The Legend of George Washington and Betsy Ross” (RI.P.2)
- With prompting and support, distinguish events in “The Legend of George Washington and Betsy Ross” that describe something that happened long ago from contemporary or current events (RI.P.2)
- With prompting and support, use the word president acquired through conversations, reading and being read to, and responding to “The Legend of George Washington and Betsy Ross” (L.P.6)
- With prompting and support, ask and answer questions about the word president in reading and discussing “The Legend of George Washington and Betsy Ross” (RI.P.4)
✓ With prompting and support, follow illustrated directions to do a simple craft (RI.P.10)

✓ Perform activities requiring small muscle control (L.P.1a)

- Activity Page b2B-1: Tell Me about the American Flag
George Washington

Note: Not every Flip Book page is shown during the Picture Talk. You might find it helpful to use sticky notes to flag the pages of the Flip Book that are shown.

The Picture Talk is an opportunity for students to remember and practice using the language and vocabulary they heard during the previous read-aloud. As you show the Flip Book pages and read the prompts below, encourage students to talk about the pictures and share information. Remember the following Language Support Techniques (see General Overview) as you support students in participating in the Picture Talk: Comments, Self-Talk, Labels and Object Descriptions, Open Questions, Parallel Talk, Expansion, and Expansion Plus.

SHOW FLIP BOOK PAGE b2A-1: George Washington portrait

- Ask students about the subject of the painting.

  “Who remembers the name of the man in this painting?”

- Call on a few students to respond. [George Washington]

- Ask students when George Washington lived.

  “Did George Washington live a long, long time ago, or is he someone who is living today? How can you tell?”

- Call on a few students to respond. [a long time ago]

- Ask students why George Washington is famous.

  “Who remembers why George Washington is famous? Why is he an important person that everyone remembers?”

- Call on a few students to respond. [he chopped down a cherry tree, he told the truth, he made the flag, he was the first president]

- Tell students that most Americans remember George Washington because he was the first president.

  “George Washington is famous mostly because he was the first president of the United States. People in America wanted to do something really special to help everyone remember that George Washington was our first president, so they decided to put his picture on our money.”

- Tell students that George Washington’s picture is on the quarter and dollar bill.

  “Did you know that George Washington is so famous that his picture is on our money? His picture is on the dollar bill and quarter.”

- Show Image Card b1B-2: Heads Up Dollar Bill and a real dollar bill.

  “This is a picture of a dollar bill. George Washington is on the dollar bill. You can see his long white hair. Here is a real dollar bill. I’m going to pass it around so that you can see George Washington on the dollar bill.”

- Show Image Card b1B-1: Heads Up Quarter and a real quarter.

- Explain that the man on the quarter is also George Washington

  “This is a picture of a quarter. This man right here on the quarter is George Washington. See his long hair like we saw in the painting? Here is a real quarter. I’m going to pass it around so that you can see George Washington.”

- Compare Image Cards b1B-1 and b1B-2 and explain that both pictures show George Washington.

- Tell students that the picture on the dollar bill is of George Washington facing forward and that the picture on the quarter is of George Washington’s head turned sideways.

- Turn sideways in your chair to show students what your profile looks like.
Deepening Understanding: President

Defining President

• Remind students that they heard the word president in the read-aloud.

  “Remember, while we were reading, we heard the word president. Listen for the word president while I read part of the book you heard before.”

→ SHOW FLIP BOOK PAGE 6A-1: George Washington portrait

Long, long ago, long before your mother and father were born, and even before your grandparents were born, a boy named George Washington lived in America. When he grew up, everyone thought he was such a good person that they asked him to be the first president of the United States of America.

• Define the word president

  “A president is a person who is the leader of a country, like the United States of America. We have talked about what a president does before when we were reading about Barack Obama.”

• Have students say the word with you.

  “Say this word with me—president.”

Reviewing President

• Show students the list you made entitled “What Does the President Do” in Lesson 4B: Barack Obama from Important People in American History. Read the list to the students.

• Have students use thumbs up and thumbs down to indicate whether or not something is part of a president’s job.

  “I want us to play a game we played before. If I say something that is part of a president’s job, put your thumbs up. If I say something that is NOT part of a president’s job, put your thumbs down.”

• List things from your chart paper and silly things, differentiating between things that are a part of a job and things the president might just like to do but are not part of the job.
“Eating ice cream. No, eating ice cream is not part of the president’s job. The president might like ice cream but it’s not part of the job. Signing his name. Yes, signing his name is part of the president’s job. Let’s read our list: ‘What does the president do?’ ‘Signs his name’.”

- Some of the things on your list may involve modern technology (e.g., talking on the phone). When you get to something on the list that does not apply to George Washington’s presidency, discuss with students the difference between today and long ago. Explain what George Washington probably did instead.

  “Talking on the phone is something the president does. But, George Washington lived a long, long time ago. When he was president, there weren’t any phones yet. Instead, George Washington talked to people face-to-face and wrote them letters since he didn’t have a phone.”

Expanding President

- Compare the president’s position as leader of a country to a leadership position in your school or classroom (e.g., administrator, principal, director).

  “The president is a leader of our country. In our school we have someone who is like the president, he/she is the leader in charge of our school. Do you know who it is?”

- Compare your school’s leader to the job of being president.

  “___ is the leader of our school. He/she is like the president. He/she makes rules for our school just like the president makes laws for our country. He/she talks on the phone and signs important papers, too.”

- Continue making comparisons as appropriate. Reinforce the idea that the president is in charge of our country, just like your leader is in charge of the school.

Extension Activity

Making An American Flag

Continue this activity in Small Groups. See Lesson b2A: Making an American Flag for detailed instructions on this Extension Activity.
These Domain Assessments evaluate each student’s knowledge relative to Core Content Objectives addressed in the Important People in American History domain. Portfolio collection can occur whenever students produce a work product that can be photographed, photocopied, or added directly to their Portfolios. The Teacher Reflection of Student Performance is designed to be a way for teachers to reflect on what students have learned after each set of lessons on a specific important American.

Portfolio Collection

Work Samples

Note: Be sure to date each piece of student work as it is added to the portfolio.

In this domain, students’ work from the following activities may be included in their portfolios:

- Lesson b2A: Making an American Flag

Teacher Reflection on Student Performance

Instructions

After teaching the groups of lessons listed below, complete the Domain Assessment Record Form, listing students who have

1) demonstrated mastery of all Core Content Objectives,

2) demonstrated understanding of some Core Content Objectives, or

3) have not demonstrated understanding of any Core Content Objectives.

For students who do not master the Core Content Objectives of a given lesson during regular instruction, teachers may want to consider conducting a reread or Picture Talk in a small-group or one-on-one setting to help students better understand the material.
After Lessons b1A-b1B: The Legend of George Washington and the Cherry Tree

After teaching these lessons, reflect on student mastery of these Core Content Objectives:

- Retell two main events from The Legend of George Washington and the Cherry Tree
- State that, in The Legend of George Washington and the Cherry Tree, George Washington told his father the truth

After Lessons b2A-b2B: The Legend of George Washington and Betsy Ross

After teaching these lessons, reflect on student mastery of these Core Content Objectives:

- Identify George Washington as the first president of the United States
- Identify Betsy Ross as the person in the legend about the first flag for the United States
